

From Patras:

Via Bus

From the suburban bus station (for Athens) they are buses departing every hour for Egio (via old national road)

They stop at Psathopyrgos (3 stops) - our hotel is at the 3rd stop. You can ask when buying your ticket on the bus and they usually let you know when your stop is up.

Via Taxi

You can also take a taxi. Cost is approximately 17 euro and takes about 25 minutes.

Via Car

We are on the old national road to Athens so follow the road to Athens without tolls. This will take you past Rio town, Agios Vasilios village, Arahovitika and Drepano village. After those you will reach Psathopyrgos. We are right off the exit so it should be easy to find.

From Athens Airport

*You can take the train from the airport straight to Kiato and from there take the bus that will be waiting outside the train station to Patras train station.

*You can also take a bus from the airport to Kifissos Bus Station (every 20 minutes approximately). From Kifissos Bus Station you can get a bus to Patras or Egio (every hour). From Patras or Egio you can get a taxi or a bus. As we are halfway between the two towns the cost and time will be the same.

By Car

Follow the signs on national highway to Korinth and then to Patras. As we are before Patras you can use the exit just after Egio exit (Loggos, Selianitika, Kamares) and then continue on the old national road in the same direction for 15km. Just after the village of Rodini you will find us at the next exit. This will save you the trip into Patras and then back to Psathopyrgos.